

Roomies - Data Dictionary and Collection Relationship Diagram

Data Dictionary

Data Element	Description	Type	Format / Example	Allowed Values / Notes
<code>customer_id</code>	Unique identifier for each user	Integer	10001	Auto-increment or UUID
<code>preferences</code>	Roommate preferences (e.g., quiet, smoker, pet-friendly)	String (JSON)	<pre>{ "smoker": false, "pets": true }</pre>	Stored as JSON or array
<code>personality_traits</code>	Key personality indicators (e.g., introvert, night owl)	String (List)	<pre>["introvert", "night owl"]</pre>	Selected from predefined set
<code>roommate_recommendations</code>	List of suggested matches based on algorithm	List of IDs	<pre>[10201, 10345, 10452]</pre>	Based on similarity score
<code>communication_logs</code>	Messages exchanged between paired users	Text	"Hey! Nice to meet you!"	Encrypted for privacy

<code>roommate_pair_id</code>	Unique ID for each confirmed match	Integer	20304	Represents a pair of users
<code>issue_info</code>	Basic data about roommate-reported issues	String	"Noise complaint"	Summary only; details are restricted
<code>issue_statuses</code>	Whether an issue is open, pending, or resolved	Enum	<code>open</code> , <code>pending</code> , <code>resolved</code>	Used by admin only
<code>admin_id</code>	ID of the administrator reviewing an issue	Integer	3005	Maps to staff database

Collection Relationship Diagram (CRD)

The following outlines the relationship between collections in the Roomies system:

